The Seminar Listen In the academic year 2016/2017, Christian Forstner, Johannes-Geert Hagmann and Peter Heering started a course Material Culture in the History of Physics . This course addressed historians of science, museum staff and future physics teachers on the master and early graduate level. In this course, the students were introduced to object oriented research, material culture studies and experimental history of science. The course consisted in three phases: it started with an online seminar where the participants worked
