Becoming a member of ICES

▶▶ Listen

All academic staff at Europa-Universität Flensburg may become full members of ICES, provided that they work within its thematic area and contribute to the center's activities. Doctoral students are also welcome to become affiliated. Membership is free of charge.

Interested persons can apply for membership by submitting an informal written application to the ICES Board of Directors, which will then make a decision regarding the request in accordance with research-related criteria. Researchers from other universities may become affiliated with the ICES as non-voting members.
