Qualification objective	This module related to business ethics and/or entrepreneurial responsibility reflects the commitment in the degree course towards a focus on “values”. Competence in ethics helps managers formulate and justify decisions, and predict, avoid, or deal with ethical pitfalls which their companies may encounter.
Expertise	Foundational course offering a broad introduction to the field. The classes focus on combining theoretical and practical approaches. The class is incrementally modified from year to year and there is therefore no fixed content.
Methodological competence	Students must develop their ethical reasoning processes in a structured fashion based on ethical theory and apply these to a variety of cases and real-life situations.
Social and personal skills	There is a strong focus on interactive, cooperative, argumentative, and dialogic learning.
