

Description

German Conversation Course C1–C2

Target group:

The German C1-C2 conversation course is suitable for students with advanced knowledge who have successfully completed the C1.1 course or have achieved at least 203 points in the placement test.

Important: This course is designed to help you consolidate the level you already have. You will not gain a higher level. If you have any questions, please contact your teacher.

Course content:

In this course you will gain more confidence in using language at work and in public, expand your vocabulary, try out idiomatic expressions, and practice spontaneous rephrasing and strategies for interaction and mediation. You will gain more fluency in colloquial language and receive help to minimise your accent.

Opportunities for conversation are not only texts, but also other media such as short films, pictures, songs, news etc., and also problems that you have to solve together.

A language course thrives on people meeting each other. It is therefore particularly important that you participate actively on a regular basis and are well prepared.

If classes are cancelled due to the teacher's illness, make-up classes may be held during Examination Period 1, in addition to the regular course.
