Europa-Universität Flensburg
| International Center

Newsletter September 2026

Welcome to the second edition of our newsletter! Here you can find information about events, calls for applications, and news from the EUF International Center.

Erasmus+

Around 250 million euros in EU's Erasmus+ program

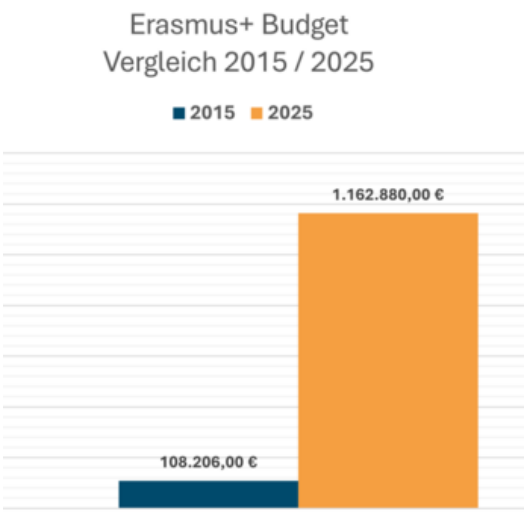

The funds are available across three funding streams, specifically for stays abroad by students, doctoral candidates and university staff within the European Union and worldwide. more

Here you can view the total budgets by state and, in more detail, the budgets by institution. more

Erasmus+: A significant increase in funding and study abroad opportunities, including for staff

Over the past ten years, the Erasmus+ program at EUF has been significantly expanded. Compared to 2015, the International Center was able to secure approx. ten times as much Erasmus+ funding in 2025. more

New Funding Rules: Erasmus+ for Staff

With Erasmus+, staff can receive funding for training, language courses, and teaching activities at European EUF partner universities. Funding is no longer available for stays with commercial providers or at higher education institutions that do not have a cooperation agreement with EUF.
more

New offers

EMERGE supports your international professional development

EMERGE – in collaboration with the DAAD – supports professional development in the area of internationalization for academic and administrative staff by covering participation fees.
The contact person is Marlene Langholz-Kaiser (local EMERGE-Coordinator). If you are interested please feel free to contact her by email at emerge@uni-flensburg.de.

DeepL Pro Pilot Project Launching at EUF

DeepL

EUF is launching a DeepL pilot project in late summer 2026. A total of 70 DeepL Pro Team+Write licenses will be made available to TAP staff members in selected roles. By default, the licenses include access to the central German-English glossary and English style guide. The project may be expanded in the future to include additional licenses and other staff groups at the university.
more

European Pathway (EP) Launches in Autumn Semester 2026/27

The EP prepares BA Educational Sciences students for a diverse and multilingual school environment. Embedded within the European University Alliance EMERGE, it strengthens a European profile in teacher education and promotes international cooperation in teaching and learning. more
An accompanying training programme for all staff and further information will follow. Contact: Olga Kim-Wtorow

EMERGE Joint Research Call

EMERGE supports joint international research projects through seed funding as part of an annual joint call. Funding will be provided for cooperative research projects carried out with at least one alliance partner and that has a focus on engaged research. more

New EMERGE Website Live

The new EMERGE website is now live, providing a comprehensive overview of the European University Alliance. Discover study opportunities, research initiatives, mobility programmes and ways to get involved, all in one place. more

Past events

EUF Language Centre at the Schleswig-Holstein Language Teaching Day

At the Schleswig-Holstein Language Teaching Day, hosted by Kiel University of Applied Sciences (HAW Kiel), teaching staff from language centers and providers at higher education institutions across Schleswig-Holstein came together to exchange best practices, discuss current challenges, and explore future perspectives for language education. more

EMERGE HUB Opens Successfully

Three inspiring days of diversity, connection and engagement: the EMERGE HUB Opening united the university community through poetry, dance, personal stories, tree planting and intercultural exchange activities. The HUB is now open and can be reserved by all members of the university community for their own activities. more

Europa-Universität Flensburg
Auf dem Campus 1 | 24943 Flensburg
E-Mail: Int-center@uni-flensburg.de