Europa-Universität Flensburg is a vibrant and dynamic university in which interdisciplinary teamwork plays a prominent role. We work, teach and research for more justice, sustainability and diversity in educational processes and systems, economy and society, culture and environment. EUF offers a cosmopolitan working environment that promotes intercultural understanding and international engagement.

The Department of Catholic Theology at the Institute of Social Sciences and Theology at Europa-Universität Flensburg announces the following vacancy to be filled as soon as possible:

Professor of Catholic Theology (Salary Grade W3)

This professorship represents the entire subject of Catholic Theology in both teaching and research. Duties include teaching in the EUF bachelor’s degree program in Educational Sciences and in the master's degree programs for primary school and community school teacher training.

The selected candidate is expected to have expertise in the area of systematic theology and competences in the area of religious studies teacher training. Knowledge and skills in the fields of ecumenism and/or interreligious dialogue, as well as an interdisciplinary and international orientation, are desirable.

Prerequisites include a completed university degree, teaching aptitude, an outstanding (qualifizierte) doctorate in a specialized subject, and additional academic research achievements as obtained through a postdoctoral lecturing qualification (Habilitation), a positively evaluated junior professorship, or equivalent academic achievements. Articles 61-63 of the Higher Education Act of the German federal state of Schleswig-Holstein shall further apply.

Experience in third-party fundraising is a prerequisite. The selected candidate is expected to help further develop the subject area at and the (partial) study program from a European perspective. He or she should be willing to engage in interdisciplinary cooperation with respect to research and teaching, to actively contribute to the development of the Department of Catholic Theology, and to teach courses in English. A willingness to work in the Center for Educational, Teaching, School and Socialization Research (ZeBUSS) or in the Interdisciplinary Centre for European Studies (ICES) at EUF is also expected. Proven competence in higher education didactics and the willingness to participate in the university's self-governing bodies are desired.

Europa-Universität Flensburg has a balanced gender ratio (m/f) with respect to its employee status group for university lecturers, and would like to further promote the diversity of biographies and competences in its employment relationships. Applications from persons with a migration background are explicitly welcomed. Severely disabled applicants with adequate qualifications will be given preference.

For more information, please contact the EUF Vice President for Studies and Teaching, Prof. Dr. Margot Brink (margot.brink@uni-flensburg.de). Application and the usual documents (certificates, references, and an overview of the candidate’s research and teaching experience) must be received by EUF no later than 27.02.2020 and should be sent to: Europa-Universität Flensburg, Präsidium, Prof. Dr. Werner Reinhart, -Private and confidential-, Reference Number 042052, Auf dem Campus 1, 24943, Flensburg.

Applications sent via email must be submitted in PDF form (maximum two files per applicant) to bewerbung@uni-flensburg.de. Kindly note that paper applications, and those sent on a standard storage device (CD-ROM or USB stick), will not be returned to the applicant after the hiring process. EUF expressly renounces the use of CV photographs and kindly asks applicants to refrain from providing one.
