Europa-Universität Flensburg is a vibrant and dynamic university in which interdisciplinary teamwork plays a prominent role. We work, teach and research for more justice, sustainability and diversity in educational processes and systems, economy and society, culture and environment. EUF offers a cosmopolitan working environment that promotes intercultural understanding and international engagement.

The Department of History and History Didactics at the Institute of Social Sciences and Theology at Europa-Universität Flensburg announces the following vacancy to be filled by Spring Semester 2021:

Professor of Modern and Contemporary History (Salary Grade W3)

We are looking for a person with a research focus on 20th century European history, who has made outstanding, internationally visible contributions to European politics, society or culture.

This professorship is equally committed to teaching in the bachelor’s and master's study programs associated with EUF’s teacher training program, in accordance with the common requirements of the Standing Conference of the Ministers of Education and Cultural Affairs of the Länder in the Federal Republic of Germany (KMK), and in the university’s English-language European Studies degree programs.

Further duties include interdisciplinary cooperation in research and teaching, active contribution to the work of EUF’s research centers (ZeBUSS and ICES), and support in further developing the university’s profile.

Prerequisites include a completed university degree, an outstanding (qualifizierte) relevant doctorate and additional academic research achievements, as obtained through a positively evaluated junior professorship, a postdoctoral lecturing qualification (Habilitation), or equivalent academic achievements. Articles 61-63 of the Higher Education Act of the German federal state of Schleswig-Holstein shall further apply.

The selected candidate must have experience in third-party fundraising and should be willing to actively further the development of the field and relevant (partial) degree programs at Europa-Universität Flensburg, as well as to contribute to the development of the Department of History and History Didactics. She or he is also expected to be able to give courses in both German and English. Proven competence in higher education didactics and the willingness to participate in the university's self-governing bodies are desired.

Europa-Universität Flensburg has a balanced gender ratio (m/f) with respect to its employee status group for university lecturers, and would like to further promote the diversity of biographies and competences in its employment relationships. Applications from persons with a migration background are explicitly welcomed. Severely disabled applicants with adequate qualifications will be given preference.

For further details, please contact the EUF Vice President for European and International Affairs, Prof. Dr. Monika Eigmüller (monika.eigmueller@uni-flensburg.de). Applications, together with the usual documents (certificates, references, and a description of the candidate’s research and teaching experience) must be received by EUF no later than 27.02.2020 and should be sent to the President of Europa-Universität Flensburg, Prof. Dr. Werner Reinhart, -Private and confidential-, Reference Number 052054, Auf dem Campus 1, 24943, Flensburg.

Applications sent via email must be submitted in PDF form (maximum two files per applicant) to bewerbung@uni-flensburg.de. Kindly note that paper applications, and those sent on a standard storage device
(CD-ROM or USB stick), will not be returned to the applicant after the hiring process. EUF expressly renounces the use of CV photographs and kindly asks applicants to refrain from providing one.
