module title	Institutional Change in Capitalist Economies and Societies
The module allows students to deepen and broaden their region-related knowledge and skills. One focus is on analysing the relationship between the activities of individual regions and the European multi-level system. This enables students to prepare themselves specifically for tasks related to the region on the basis of the detailed study of individual partial aspects in the chosen region of specialisation (for example in the area of human resources, marketing, tourism or logistics) or the in-depth study of a country in the context of the European multi-level system. If they decide to expand their regional knowledge, the breadth of their applicability on the labour market increases.
