

Station 3

Unfortunately, gorillas are endangered animals; this means that the number of gorillas is decreasing. One day they might even die out. Then there would be no gorillas left.

1. Gorillas are threatened by human beings, who hunt and kill them. This forbidden hunting is called poaching.

Think about the reasons why humans hunt gorillas. Note down your ideas.

2. Another problem is that the living space of the gorillas (the forests they live in) is being destroyed. Think about the reasons why humans destroy the forests.

3. Think about what you and everybody else could do to protect the gorillas. Note down your ideas.
