3. Then click on the button to go to the online application portal.
   This click will lead you to the EUF-Potal (https://eufportal.uni-flensburg.de/qisserver/pages/cs/sys/portal/hisinoneStartPage.faces).
   If, by chance land on the German version of the portal, please scroll down to the end of the page and change the language to English on the lower right side.
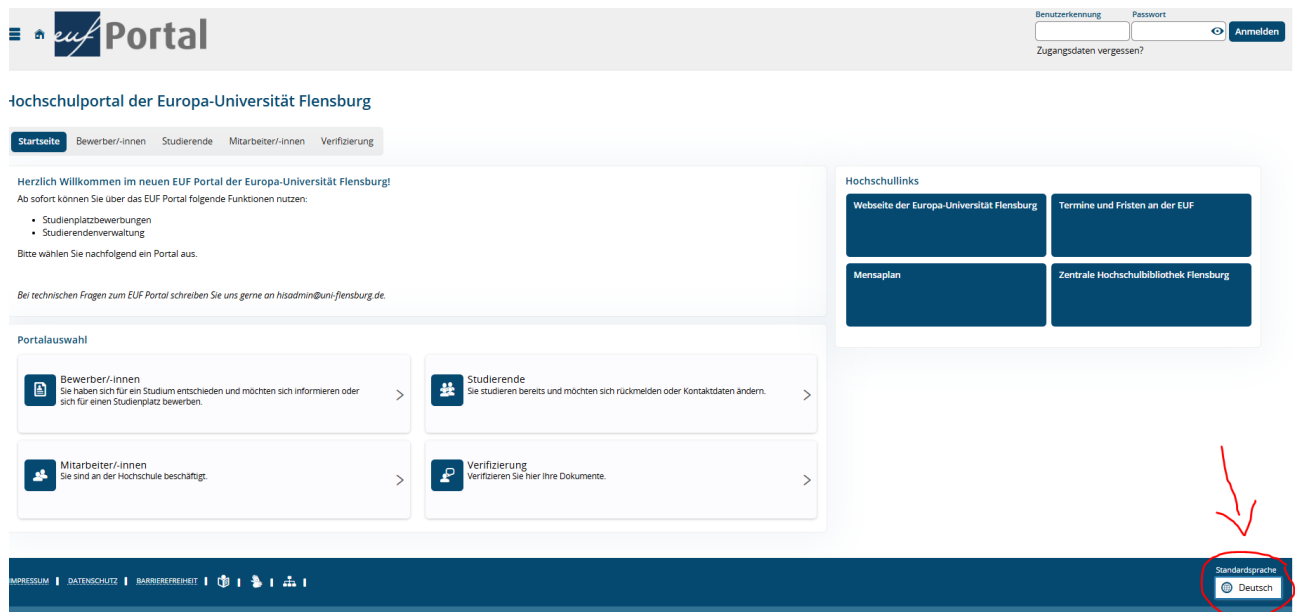

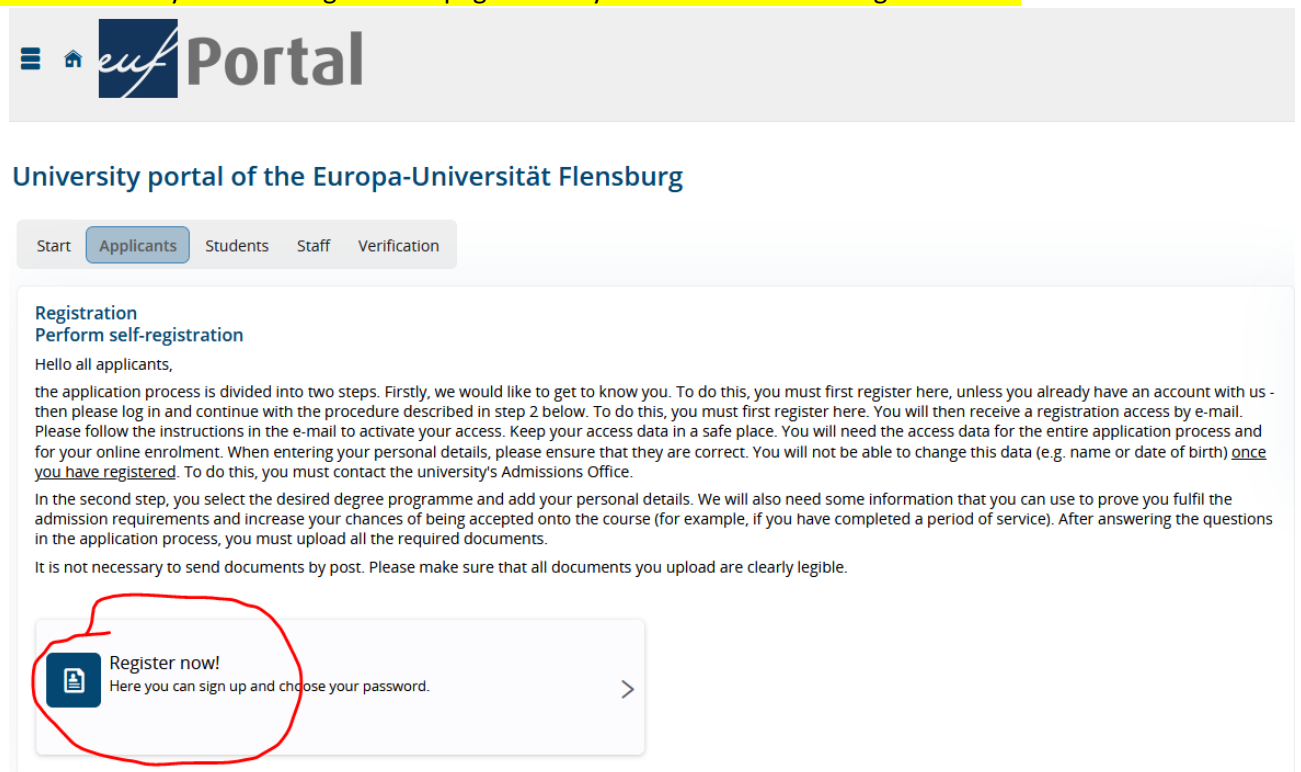

The English version of the application website should then look like this:
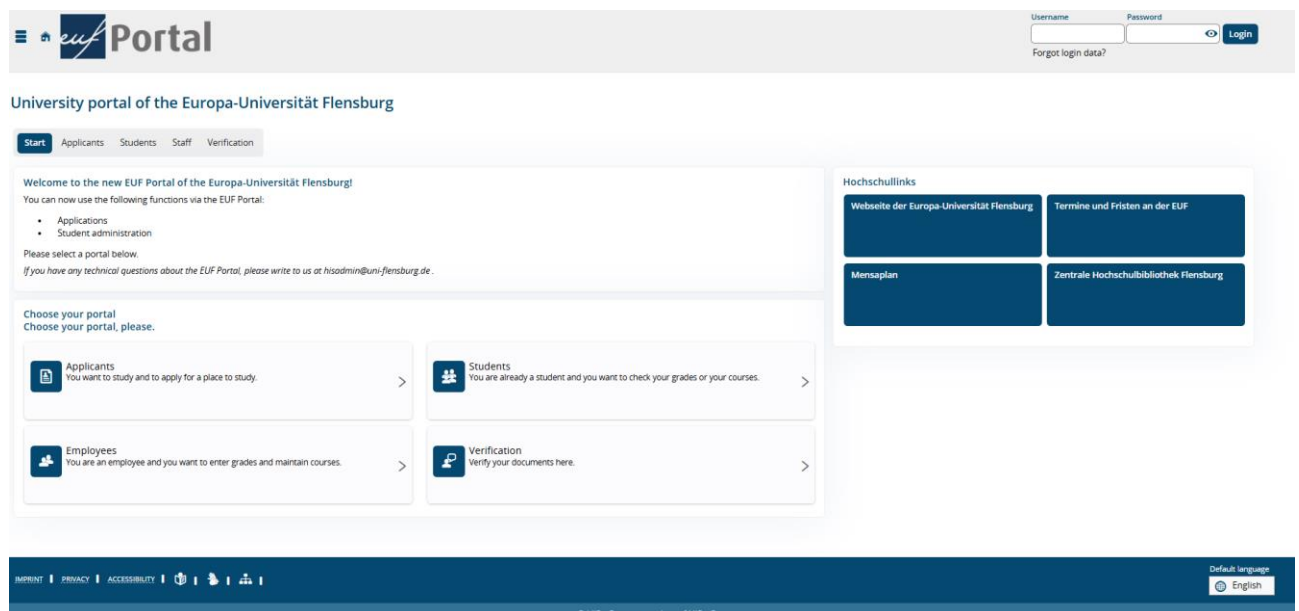

4. Here, to apply to the B.A. European Cultures and Society, you should choose "Applicants" either on the horizontal menu on top of the page or in the box below.
You can always return to this page by clicking on "start".
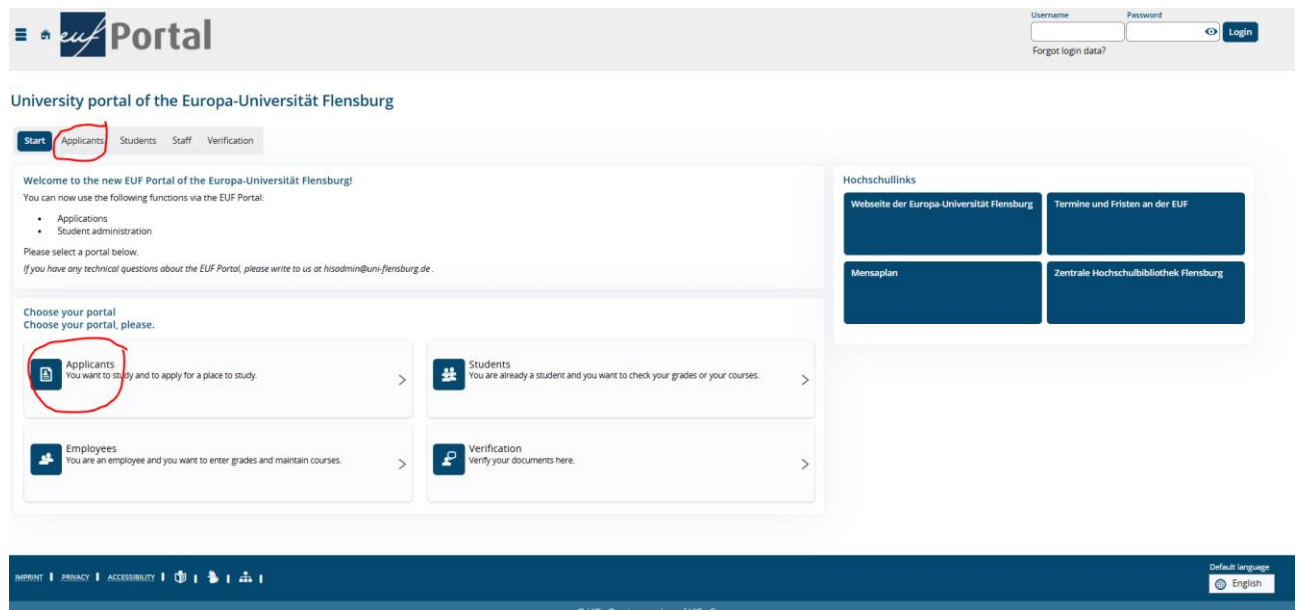

This will lead you to the registration page. There you need to click to "Register now!"

6. You also have on the right side two possible boxes to click on. One will directly you to the information on application procedure (https://www.uni-flensburg.de/en/academics/student-services/admission-and-enrollment/application-process) and the other to general information about studying (https://www.uni-flensburg.de/en/academics/student-services/studying-at-euf). Clicking on these buttons will most likely lead you to the German version of the website of the Europa-Universität Flensburg. To navigate these pages in English, you will find on the top right side of the page a German flag. Please click on it to switch the language of the page into English:

Please be careful because if you click on these links, you might not be able to go back to the page where you were. Here is the direct link to that page: https://eufportal.uni-flensburg.de/qisserver/pages/cs/sys/portal/hisinoneStartPage.faces (see also Nr. 5).

7. If you click on "Register now!" in the EUF application Portal, you will be directed to a registration page with several sections to read and to fill in with your data.

First you should read the section related to Information:

University portal of the Europa-Universität Flensburg

Important Informations

Welcome to the application portal of Europa-Universität Flensburg.

The next step is to select the semester you wish to apply for and the degree program(s) you are interested in.
You then have to answer questions that the admissions office needs to check your admission requirements.
In a final step, you must then upload the documents required for your chosen degree program.

You can interrupt the application at any time if you cannot answer a question straight away or if you still need to scan documents in order to upload them. You can then continue with your application the next time you log in. All data entered up to that point will be saved.

You may have to upload documents several times. This is because your documents are not only intended for the Admissions Office, but also for other bodies (e.g. admissions committees).
Once you have been admitted, you can enrol online immediately. You will also need to upload the documents required for enrollment.
For degree programs with admission restrictions, you must usually confirm acceptance of the admission offer beforehand.

Be sure to observe the deadlines for submitting your application, accepting the offer of admission and enrolling. If you miss one of these deadlines, your further participation in the procedure is excluded.

The entire procedure is therefore paperless. Nevertheless, the university reserves the right to request originals from you on a random basis in the event of justified suspicion of falsification and also without suspicion, which must be presented to the Admissions Office at the start of your studies.
If falsified documents have been uploaded, admission will expire retroactively to the date of admission.
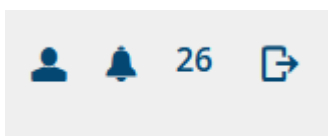

Team Admissions wishes you good luck with your application.

When can you apply to a higher semester? When you have already completed at least 30 credit points in another university in a program similar to the B.A. European Cultures and Society. In this case, in order to complete your application, you will need to obtain a document from the university stating that you are allowed to apply to a higher semester. For that, please send an email to eucs@uni-flensburg.de with your identification, the information that you are applying to the B.A. European Cultures and Society and that you want to apply to a higher semester. Please attach a scan of your transcript of records (translated to German or English, if it is in another language) together with the module description of the modules that you want recognized. You should also attach the control sheet from your application (you can download from the EUF application Portal in the next step). 17. When you click "Next", you will be asked for further information about your entrance qualification. Entrance qualification is the previous education that you have that allows you to study in Germany. For applicants who studied in Germany before, that would be the Abitur. For applicants that completed their studies abroad, the educational background is equivalent to the German Abitur. Germany has made an assessment of the educational system of every country in the world and checked what background would be equivalent to the German Abitur. In the case of some countries the high school certificate is equivalent to the German Abitur. In other cases, it is the high school certificate plus one or two completed years of university at bachelor's level. If you want to get an idea of which educational background you need to apply to the B.A. European Cultures and Society in Germany, please check this DAAD page in detail: https://www.daad.de/en/studying-in-germany/requirements/admission-database/
With this in mind, you are then asked to fill in the fields with (*):

All fields marked with an asterisk (*) are required. Some input fields provide an info icon to display additional information.

Entrance qualification   ⓘ Help

ⓘ   Please enter your university entrance qualification data here. The university entrance qualification entitles you to study and is usually obtained through the school leaving certificate, e.g. from a high school or technical high school. A vocational qualification can also prove a university entrance qualification.

If you are an applicant, who previously studied in Germany, then you will choose that you completed your Abitur in Germany.
If you completed your studies abroad, then you should choose that you completed your studies abroad and then choose the country where you completed your studies.
The type of Entrance qualification only gives you options in German and is only relevant for students who completed their studies in Germany. In this case, if you are an international applicant, you can choose this option: "Sonstiger Erwerb der HZB im Ausland (allgemeine Hochschulreife)".
The last two points related to the average grade (equivalent to the GPA) and date in which you have completed the studies that allow you to apply to a Bachelor's program in Germany are not mandatory fields. The Admissions Office, when analyzing your documents, will convert your GPA into a German grade that fits the German scale of 1-4. Whatever you write here, the Admissions Office will always correct the information once they have assessed your application.

18. When you click next, you are then asked to confirm that the university entrance qualification that you chose is correct. If you completed high school in one country and the necessary extra time of university in a different country, then you should add one further entrance qualification (option at the bottom of the page). In this case, the only different thing that you need to signal is the different countries in which you completed your different educational certificates (usually high school and the university semesters).
In the end you always need to your university entry qualification by clicking "Next".

19. The next page has three questions:
1. Have you completed a second degree in Germany? Here Germany is the key word. If you have previously completed a Bachelor's or a Master's in another country, then that does not matter and you should reply "no".
2. The question about vocational training is mainly aimed at German applicants. Vocational training corresponds to an "Ausbildung" in Germany and for the purpose of this application is not comparable to any other type of training done abroad. So, even if you have completed a vocational training abroad, you should answer no. You should only answer yes if you completed an Ausbildung.
3. The last question is also mainly aimed at German citizens. The German state gives preference to their citizens who have completed military, civil or European Service. This does not apply to international applicants.

- As soon as processing by the Admissions Office has begun, the application status changes. All information (e.g. missing documents, admission to studies, etc.) will be displayed in your portal.
- Once you have been admitted, you must enrol via the portal. All required documents must be uploaded to the portal within the enrolment period.
- For degree programs with restricted admission, you (possibly) have to confirm acceptance of the study place. You will be given a short deadline of approx. 10 days to do this. If you do not confirm your acceptance, your entitlement to the study place will expire irrevocably.

Further information:

- You can use the "Print check sheet" link to check the data you entered in your application. The link can be found on the right-hand side in the "Personal information" section.
- You will be informed about the processing status of your application here in the application portal. You will also receive an e-mail if the status changes. If you have deactivated the option to be notified by e-mail, you will have to check the portal yourself regularly to see whether your status or your application has changed.

Good luck with your application!
